

Configuring Schedules on the RV130 and RV130W

Objective

Schedules can be applied to Firewall Access Rules and Internet Access Policies. This means a rule or policy can be scheduled according to the time when the rule or policy needs to be applied to the router. The administrator can schedule the rule or policy for the router with a specific start and a stop time. As a result, the router can block or allow traffic into the network during certain times of the week.

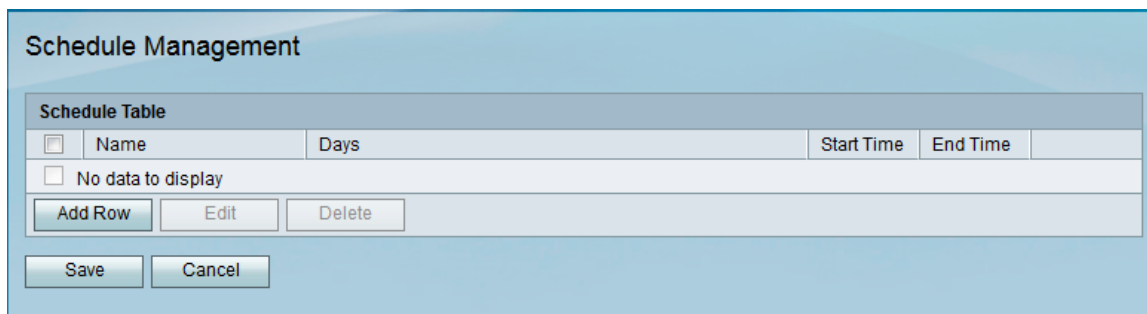

The objective of this document is to show you how to add, edit, and delete schedules on the RV130 and RV130W.

Applicable Devices

- RV130
